PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Having always been interested in both the ways of human thinking and being as well as hands-on work fashion, I've educated myself (with the help of the institutions I've attended) to use my critical thinking skills for the improvement of the environment that surrounds me, being that of a restaurant, a corporate coffee shop, or amongst friends and family.

I've also found great interest in the ways of the market. The way it operates and its sometimes (though not always) unpredictability, and how to take best advantage through the use of statistical analysis.

As a self-propelled wheel, I am always ready to get the work done and deal with all challenges ahead in as efficient a manner as possible.

ONLINE TRADING

Born out of an early-age interest in the stock market, I've developed a certain pleasure in online stock trading. Having developed an Excel with over 100 variables (some of which are seemingly confounding), I've managed to increase my portfolio's value in order to improve my and my family's lifestyle.

BILINGUAL

Fluent in both English and Spanish. Working on my French.
